President's Letter

Dear Members - all 80 of you!

As the first six months of our organization approaches, we have reached the 80% mark of our membership goal for this charter year. It's becoming a big responsibility to keep in touch and to keep up the quality of our publications.

I'm happy to announce the appointment of Hoy Grigsby to the Board. He is in charge of quarterly exchanges with other genealogical societies. If you have an area you want us to exchange with, please let Hoy know. All exchange quarterlies are in Paul Sullins Library in Crossett, so look them over next time you are there. Dolly Pruitt is our "caretaker" at the Library.

Please note that there will be a regular meeting each month beginning in September. This seems to be what the members want. At the September meeting we will view the first "Old Timer" video made by Melba Thomas. It includes interviews with four local residents, ranging in age from 90 to 97!

Note too the two latest publications. Faith Nowlin has abstracted all four of these publications, and sales are quite brisk. She is also copying three large volumes of Bible records which were placed in Ashley County Library by the DAR several years ago. This material is being made available through an exchange of our publications with that Library.

Recent additions to Ashley County Tombstone Inscriptions have been given us by the Home Demonstration Clubs of the county. We do appreciate their work and generosity. We plan publications of these within the next year.

We are delighted to have many out-of-the-area members, but this means that those of us who live in Ashley County are giving lots of effort. And we love it! Volunteers, make yourselves known -- we need you.

Many of our members and nonmembers shared their journals, papers, and letters for this issue of Kin Kollecting. We appreciate very much the response from so many with their materials. If you have other suggestions for improving the quarterly, please let us know. And feel free to send materials for consideration for publication.

We continue to receive many letters and queries for the monthly newspaper column. These are coming from all over the country. In short, the response has been both flattering and astounding. Be sure to read the first two queries in this issue. It was like Christmas when those two queries reached us at the same time!

AN ASHLEY COUNTY CIVIL WAR STORY

Contributed by William Finch

(Note: William "Bill" Finch gave a copy of this letter to Paul Sullins Library, Crossett, and it has been passed on to us to be used in this special issue. It is from the file of Minnie Dean Finch (Mrs. I. M. Barnes). We appreciate Mr. Finch and the library for sharing this with us.)

March 21, 1941

During the Civil War Aunt Amelia was expecting Grand Papa and Uncle Bob to bring a boat of ammunition from New Orleans. The Yankees came before their arrival and she had heard that they were coming. She sent all the cattle across river on to ferry to Buckeye Island.

The Yankees arrived soon on that afternoon. Aunt Amelia was pregnant and expecting any time. She was also expecting the boat back from New Orleans any-time. The Yankees killed a few of her hogs and chickens that were left behind. Then went upstairs and broke their trunks open and took all of her jewelry and valuables. She had a bottle of whiskey in her trunk for medical use, but they were afraid of it thinking it was poison. She told them to drink it if they wanted it, making them suspicious. She looked the captain up and asked him what kind of people they were and told him what the men upstairs were doing. He went into the house and made them come out and told to leave things alone in the house. Night was coming and the captain unstrapped one of his pistols and gave it to her and asked her to give him a quilt and pillow and he slept outside her door to protect her.

Soon after the soldiers arrived Aunt Amelia sent the old negro man who stayed with her to go out and catch them some fish for supper. He caught the idea and fished along the bank until he could cross the river (Saline) to warn the negroes over there. He came in about dusk with three fish. Aunt Amelia put the light in the upstairs window for a signal for the boat not to come in as there was danger.

The Yankees left the next morning and Aunt Amelia had the negroes search the woods around and to follow them off to be sure they were all gone and waited for several hours before she gave the signal from the upstairs window with a white flag. Her Mother was on the boat coming to be with her during confinement (from Pigeon Hill).

later - - - - -

Another regiment stopped there and were taking all the feed from the barn for their horses. She gave the Masonic sign and the captain happened to be a Mason and he made the men leave the things alone. She told them there was a Union man that lived a few miles up the road and to go and pay him a visit.

She lived near the ferry is why so many came to her home. They had to keep most of their food and valuables buried. Will was born during the war, but after the war - - - - there were 4 boys and 3 girls born to Aunt Amelia - Will, Jim, John and Frank, Mary Enna, Ella and Ida.

TO HEAR GRANDMA TELL IT

Excerpted from a collection of tales told to R. Elmer Dunham as told to him by his grandmother, Matilda Jane (SCOTT) DUNHAM MCKIEVER SLATER.

One of Grandma's heroes was her brother, Jim, who was near his eleventh birthday. The war (Civil War) had made much hardship on this widow* of a U. S. Army veteran who had several fingers shot off in the Mexican War. The invading "bushwhackers" burned the cotton gin and the only way left to get cotton for weaving homespun cloth, the family had to hand pick the lint from the seeds which were saved for small patches in the new ground. It was an all-family effort. The widow and her negro helper spun and wove the homespun which might be expected to bring in a bit of cash if buyers could be had.

It was heard of a company of Confederate soldiers then in Monticello buying corn to ship to Camden or by way of a Louisiana road to the Southern Army across the Mississippi River, and that they sometimes bought homespun for uniforms.

Brother Jim was loaded down with the homespun cloth and sent the 22 miles to try to swap it for corn for meal and to have seed for spring planting. It was a dangerous trip over backwoods roads to keep out of the hands of Yankee Terrorists who had already raided the small stock of corn they had. Jim stayed in sight of the prairie; traveling in the nearby woods at night and feeding his horse on grass enough to make the trip.

When he arrived at the army camp and offered his homespun cloth, the officer said, "Kid, we are short of corn for the Army and we don't need any more homespun at this time. Just take your stuff back home to your Ma." That was too much for the tired and frightened boy, and he went over to a stack of cotton sacks and sat down and cried. He had failed as the man of the family!

A sargeant came by, saw him and motioned him to go with him out back of the tent and listened to his story. He said, "You stick around 'til I can find a man who can get you the corn you need." He showed the boy a place on some bales of cotton where he could sleep until night and then they would meet back of the tent with his horse and goods. Jim said, "Where do I put the homespun, sir?" The soldier said, "The man said he didn't need it" and wanted him to take it to his Ma and brothers and sisters, for he could see his clothes were all worn and patched. He said after Jim got out of town to go around the guard camp out on Rough and Ready Hill, and he could walk to make the load lighter.

Jim ate some hardtack and sausages and in two days was home telling his Mother what a strange friend this soldier was! She said, "Well, I guess he was a good man, Jim, but he swiped the corn from the Army. But we can't do anything about it now, so we will all have some new clothes. You were a good head of the family, son."

Grandma said, "I thought she was right and thanked our Dear God for it and my big brother Jim."

* The widow was Ellen (BOYLES) SCOTT.

 We are still looking for proof of his service because the yankees were supposed to have burned all of the papers that were in possession of the family.

Her negro helper was most likely a woman named Margaret who had once been the slave that Ellen Scott had purchased from her mother for $100 a decade before the Civil War.

LETTERS OF A CONFEDERATE SURGEON

Exerpts from a book by Mrs. R. J. Gaughan, published at Camden, Arkansas, 1960

In the above book, Mrs. Gaughan states that the surgeon who wrote these letters was Junius Newport BRAGG, Mrs. Gaughan's grandfather, who had come to southern Arkansas in 1843. Most of the letters were written to Josephine, whom he married in 1863. These are only those letters written from and about Ashley County. The book is in the Arkansas section of Paul Sullins Library.

Hamburg, Ashley County, Arks.
August 10th, 1863

My Dearest Josephine:

I wrote you from our camp on Boef River that we were ordered to Pine Bluff. We left Camp Taylor a week ago. We get along very slowly, having to be governed entirely by the supply of water. Today we marched twelve miles: yesterday the same distance. Some days we do not track more than five miles. It will be ten days yet or more before we get to our destination. Last night we camped in the great town of Berlin. It is not known on the maps, that is, it is not named thereon, but it is nevertheless there. It has its stores and its whiskey traps in good times, and its compliment of young ladies, all light complexioned and sandy hair (golden), and its portion of corpulent babies with a Negro girl attached to each one, and the usual number of small yelping dogs. All these things fell upon my enraptured gaze at once, as I rode into town in the middle of the day. All the animals above mentioned, of course were cheated of their usual afternoon nap by our entrance. In order that all due importance should be attached to our coming, it is only heralded by "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which said lady was sacrificed for the fortyeight hundred and nineth time on a squeaking fife and shabby kettle drum. It was truly sublime to see the unsophisticated denizens of Berlin rush fourth to see the festive warriors, to see how they hung upon the euphonious vibrations of that ancient fife, and with what wonder they examined the bayonets, which they denominated "stickers". Little are the citizens of Berlin wanting in patriotism -- that patriotism which appeals so feelingly to the digestive organs. As the Monks of Mt. St. Bernard refreshed the French army with biscuit and wine, so also did the Berlinite pour fourth their butter milk in no stunted draughts.

I write you from the top of a wagon in front of the cottage of a citizen of Hamburg. The faces of six Confederate mules are turned mutely upon me, as are also the faces of an old lady and her daughter. Under such inspiring influences, I ought to write a very interesting epistle, but many of the patriots are indisposed and demand physic. They besiege me as if I could heal them by simply touching them. Hamburg is a powerful town. It has a courthouse and two churches. I learned from a young lady today, that a male and female school here was in a flourishing condition. Although I did not have on my coat, I just sauntered up to that young lady, and was on the point of making her think I was somebody, she being sixteen, a schoolgirl, and very silly, when Capt. Tappan came in and asked me if I would not like to see my wife. Of course I had nothing more to say.

My health is excellent. I am enjoying myself very well. Dr. Williams will go home from Monticello. There is a great deal of sickness. We will leave four men here sick. The citizens proffered to take care of them. Give my love to all.

Goodbye, my darling. Your devoted husband,

J. N. Bragg

In Camp 9 Miles South Monticello
August 12th 1863

My Darling Josephine:

The departure of Dr. Williams for his home in Clark County, affords me the opportunity of writing you a short letter. I wrote you two or three days since by Capt. Ansley, but I suppose this will reach you before that does. I wrote you from the great town of Hamburg. I mentioned to you what beautiful girls thronged the doors of its cottages, and how the variety of things around there could inspire one to write a long letter to his wife. An attempt was made there by the officers of Shaver's Regiment to get up a dance. The young ladies were invited, together with the staff and Headquarters of Grinstead's Regiment. At the repeated and earnest solicitation of Col. McMillan I concluded to go and observe the movements of the folks at the party. The affair was to come off at the court house and accordingly we went down there. I did not think the importance of the occasion demanded a display of clean linen, and so, notwithstanding I had taken all the white out of mine, I merely contented myself with buttoning up my coat collar, which completely hid it from view. When we arrived at the scene of action we found the courtroom brilliantly illuminated with one attenuated little tallow candle, which was so weak that it could not stand alone, and had to be propped up with a stick. There was no sound of revelry that night, neither was the countenance of a single lady visible. Genl. Tappan's Brass Band, however, serenaded the town very effectively, and the soldiers stole all the chickens. Monticello is now under the law of a party, which is to come off as soon as we get there. I shall give you the particulars of it.

Last night we had a heavy rain which laid the dust and rendered travel to-day very agreeable. We are now on the road I came when I left Marie Saline. We struck the road at a place called Fountain Hill.

I have thought about you at every turn in the road today, for you are intimately and nearly associated with my travelling it last fall. I can even remember what I was thinking about when I came along here, I had only left you that morning.

I had a chill yesterday, the cold stage of which lasted me three hours. I sat on my horse all the time at that. I thought I should never get warm any more. I took some calomel last evening and Quinine all night, and missed it today. Tomorrow I will take some more Quinine. I thought I was rid of them but it seems I am not. If I never have anything worse than a chill, though, I will be very well satisfied. Remember me to all our relatives.

Affectionately and Devotedly,
Your Husband,

J. N. Bragg

Forty-five veterans went to the reunion leaving Hamburg in a special car April 20th.

THOMAS H. PHIFER CIVIL WAR LETTERS

Contributed by Janice Clark
507 E. Third Ave.
Crossett, Arkansas 71635

These letters, written in a fine Spencerian hand by Thomas H. PHIFER, reflect with unique poignancy the loneliness, courage, and love of family and home of this young man who, my mother told me, left his Mansfield, LA., home at the age of 17, as a member of the Louisiana Pelican Rifles Regiment, lugging along his law books in order to continue his "reading for law" under his teacher, who was in his company at the beginning.

I found this little bundle of letters in an old trunk in the basement of our home in Birmingham, AL., when I was about 12. My mother gave them to me some 20 years later. The little sister Thomas refers to in his letters was Julia PHIFER TRUITT BISHOP, my grandmother. In 1965 I allowed the Monroe Morning World, in Louisiana, to publish them during commemoration of the Civil War Centennial. They have also been bound and placed in the Mansfield, LA., library.

I feel these letters should go on to all of Thomas H. Phifer's nieces and nephews unto untold generations -- that they should be kept alive not only as reflections of a very young man's experiences in a hideous war, but because they express the agony of millions of soldiers who have endured wars throughout history.

Although always kept in closed containers the original letters have faded to such an extent that they could only be deciphered today with very sophisticated photographic equipment.

I notice a scattering of typographical errors in these copies. Attribute them to the fallibilities of my son, Banks Clark, and to me as we spent several Christmas holidays copying the original copy I had given him.

Janice Yenni Clark

(Editor's Note: There are 27 letters in Mrs. Clark's collection. We are quoting here from only a few of them. The letters begin on May 27, 1861, and the last letter is dated Sept. 16, 1862. It was written just before the death of Thomas H. Phifer.)

Camp Magruder, July 31st, 1861

Dear Lizzie

I fear I have destroyed all the good reputation I have acquired for punctuality in answering letters. But however dilatory I may seem to be I trust it will only serve to increase the number of your letters in the same proportion in which it increases your anxiety for my wellfare. You are not yet as I would have you to be. I would have you so that if you heard of our being in a battle, and that every man was lost except the Captain and one private, you would still never despair of seeing me. You trouble yourselves I fear too much about me. I have been for the last two weeks marching around the peninsula. As soldiers we were in our elements, marching generally all day in the hot sun and sleep all night on the bare ground, with nothing but a thin blanket to protect us from the chilling dews. I have received one letter from you since my last.

Also, one from Sallie containing an account of the barbicue, which had been delayed at Richmond until father arrived, when he sent it on to me. He was in good health and spirits, but was ordered off to Manassa the night after the Battle of Manassa. I have not heard from him since. I will try to get a transfer to his company. We are in good health now, and are a happy and contented as possible under the circumstances. We are sometimes marched very hard. We are the best practical soldiers in the peninsula, according to Gen. Mcgruders opinion. We took a trip (our Company) down to New Market bridge day before yesterday. About two miles from Hampton and three from Newport News we were detailed from our Regiment and served as vanguard on the march, and centre in the line of Battle drawn up at New Market bridge, who came in sight. We saw a few scampering Yankeys, and from the tremendous rattling of the drums in their camp a short time afterwards our approach seemed to wake them to a sense of their danger and they made good their retreat within their breastworks, leaving ninety of their negroes in our charge.

+ + + + +

After we had stayed there a reasonable length of time (We had promised to be back to Camp at nine o'clock P.M.) at least long enough for the enemy to meet us if he had been so disposed, we marched back to Bethel, advance Guard as before. We had a merry time of it. We had acquired a recruit of negroes which would excuse us from nearly all our ditching duty, and were marching in front of about nineteen hundred soldiers who had been laying in their dry beds when we were in the mud and rain, and lounging around the tents when we were in the ditch. The consequence was that while we were as fresh and lively as when we started they (being compelled to keep up with us) were panting and groaning, and putting on hidious countenances, and complaining of long forced marches. We did some of our prettiest marching that day and arrived at Bethel about dark. We are all in camp now, with the Regiment on James River. It is a delightfull Place on the Bank about fifty feet high, rising almost perpendicular from the water's edge. The river is about three miles wide here and a fine Steam Boat plies between Grove Wharf about one mile below here and Richmond, about two hundred yards in our rear is a delightful spring, which boils out of a bed of shells at the foot of the hill in a stream as large as my body. It is about four miles from Williamsburg. We received our pay about ten days ago, thirty nine Dollars in clean cash. I was not quite out of money. I had Twelve Dollars left. I went to Williamsburg yesterday shopping, I spent seven dollars and a half, most in dry goods. I have enough to do me three months if I can keep them. Give my love to all my friends both male and female, if any there be, and always Remember your brother that his constant care is his absent mother, sisters & Brother at the dear old spot which I was wont to call my home in former days with better hopes and brighter prospects before me.

I am as I ever was, devoted to the hapiness of the Family.

T. H. Phifer

Camp Mcgruder, August 10th, 1861

Mr. S. Phifer

Dear Father.

I wrote a letter about the same time I suppose that you wrote me last, to which I have never yet received an answer. I am very anxious to be with you, notwithstanding I leave many friends behind me and a company which occupies the highest position in this Regiment.

(note: it is apparent from the intervening letters that Phifer's father has enlisted and that his son is attempting to obtain a transfer to the same company)

I regret too that you are enlisted for the war on account of the family. Although it is my greatest desire to be with you and stand by you in times of trouble and danger, and knowing as I do the mutual benefit and advantages which would arise from it, still I hesitate to place myself in a position where there is a probability of my being so long absent from an unprotected family. Although they may be as you say, well cared for, still there is a possibility of their needing a true friend's assistance before the war closes, and I do not expect that friend can be found except it be you or I. If I should remain enlisted for one year, I would return to the Family at the expiration of the term, and if they needed my assistance I would be at liberty. If not and the war was still going on, I could join you. I cannot think that it was the best policy for us both to abandon the family.

+ + + + +

C. M. PEGUESE is now in camp. He left Mansfield on the 17th July, the last letter I received from home was dated the 16th July, they were all well. I will write no more at present. I hope to receive a letter from you in a few days, containing your advice as to the best course for me to pursue. We are all well and in fine spirits. Levy is very strict in his regulations, the guard is not allowed to sleep from the time they are mounted till they are dismissed. Last night Tom SPAULDING and SAUNDERS were found asleep on their posts. They are now in the guard house. I have been extremely fortunate, I have never been in the guard house yet. But broad is the gate and wide is the way, and many there be that find it. Report says that there is a great deal of sickness in Yorktown.

Your son,
Thos. H. Phifer

Bevo..c near Washington Sept 1862

Dear Sallie

Days and weeks have passed almost unnoticed since we advanced upon the enemy near Richmond. Although the past is by no means unpleasant, yet I have scarcely cast a look behind me for the last two months. This day two months ago beheld no less than six battle fields in front of Richmond, miry with Yankey Blood. They concluded they could not take Richmond from the side and so they removed to the Rapadan. We have enriched the soil with Yankees from the Rapidan to Bull Run. We have advanced into Frederick City, about twenty miles in the interior of Maryland. Frederick City is about as large as Shreveport and said to contain more Union sentiment than any other town in the State. But we were made to feel proud by our welcome here. The People did all they could for us, some brought water, some food, some clothing. They offered their selve... in every way they could benefit us. Some danced, some laughed, some cried. Fairy groups of most beautiful girls skipped about the streets crying Welcome, Welcome brave southerners. Sweet is our wellcome of the brave. Some said they wished no better fate than to become the wife of a southerner. They were shocked to see us so ragged and barefoot. They made many presents and things they sold cost only a trifle. Boots that would cost twenty five Dollars in Richmond were bought here for four & five. We can not help but enjoy our selves here, but it cost many precious lives to get here. There is however one consolation, that for every noble Southern son that bade farewell to home to friends to life, a half a score of inhuman wretches crossed the fiery Portal and assist their companions who have gone from before Richmond in their devilish orgies. The loss of our company was dreadful. In twenty men who went into battle sixteen were either killed or wounded a copy of the report of the list casualties.

Harpers Ferrey, Va. Sept. 16/62

Dear Father,

I improve this the first opportunity of writing to you since our advance from Gordonsville. We have been constantly on the march since that time and although we have seen some hard service we have had a very interesting time. We penetrated into Maryland until within twenty miles of the Pennsylvania line -- we then turned abruptly to the left and after some hard marching by a circuitous rout finally came up in the rear of Harpers Ferry. We have been shelling this place of such renowned strength for two days. This morning about nine o'clock They ran up a white flag about as large as a sheet, and made an unconditional surrender of all their force Infantry Cavalry and Artillery. Consisting of about thirteen thousand Infantry -- Cavalry and about forty pieces of their best Artillery. Also large quantities of Commissary and Quarter Masters Stores. Our loss was very severe at Manassas. Our Company went in with twenty men and came out with four, but hundreds of Yankees fell before our Brigade. Their loss in front of us was about three times as large as our own. We have only had ten men in our Company since the battle, but we have received four or five recruits today.

There is a great battle going on beyond the Potomic now, but I have not heard any of the particulars. Before you receive this you will hear of one of the greatest victories over the Yankees ever yet gained. Next you will hear of our taking possession of Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, and Cincinnati unless peace be declared sooner. I have some hopes of wintering at home this year. O, I would be the happiest mortal alive if I were permitted to do it. I have enjoyed most excellent health all the time. We get abundance of all kinds of fruits which is a great help to our army. Sometimes we have to eat fruit in order to make our rations hold out. I do not know when I will get an opportunity of sending this letter off. Please write to me often.

You know I will not have much time to write now but you shall hear from me every opportunity. Our wounded are all getting along well. Nothing more at present from Your

Affectionate Son

T. H. Phifer

I, too, saw God through mud,—
The mud that cracked on cheeks when wretches smiled.
War brought more glory to their eyes than blood,
And gave their laughs more glee than shakes a child.

Merry it was to laugh there—
Where death becomes absurd and life absurder.
For power was on us as we slashed bones bare
Not to feel sickness or remorse of murder.

I, too, have dropped off fear—
Behind the barrage, dead as my platoon,
And sailed my spirit surging light and clear
Past the entanglement where hopes lay strewn;

And witnessed exultation—
Faces that used to curse me, scowl for scowl,
Shine and lift up with passion of oblation,
Seraphic for an hour; though they were foul.

I have made fellowships—
Untold of happy lovers in old song.
For love is not the binding of fair lips
With the soft silk of eyes that look and long,

By Joy, whose ribbon slips,—
But wound with war's hard wire whose stakes are strong;
Bound with the bandage of the arm that drips;
Knit in the webbing of the rifle-thong.

I have perceived much beauty
In the hoarse oaths that kept our courage straight;
Heard music in the silentness of duty;
Found peace where shell-storms spouted reddest spate.

Nevertheless, except you share
With them in hell the sorrowful dark of hell,
Whose world is but the trembling of a flare,
And heaven but as the highway for a shell,

You shall not hear their mirth:
You shall not come to think them well content
By any jest of mine. These men are worth
Your tears. You are not worth their merriment.

Wilfred Owen

The Rust Guards marched from Latonia to Gaines Landing, where they embarked on the steamer Victoria on 11 July 1861, arriving at Memphis on 13 July. Departing Memphis by railroad on 17 July, they arrived at Lynchburg, Virginia, on 21 July 1861, and went into the Camp of Instruction until 7 August 1861, when they once again boarded railroad cars to Staunton. From here they marched to Camp Allegheny, where they joined up with the Third Arkansas.

The Third Arkansas was placed in the First Brigade, Army of the Northwest, and began six months of arduous duty in the frozen mountains of what is now West Virginia. In addition to skirmishes at Cheat Mountain, Bath, Capon Bridge and Romney, they had to contend with measles, pneumonia and typhoid fever. The many casualties included the Hundley brothers.

On 19 April 1862, the regiment was assigned to the Fourth Brigade, D.H. Hill's Command, Army of Northern Virginia. The career of the Rust Guards ended at the Battle of Sharpsburg (or Antietam) in Maryland on 17 September 1862. The Rust Guards were decimated in this battle, and were finally consolidated with the "Arkansas Travellers," Company A, Third Arkansas Infantry, a company from Portland, Ashley County, Arkansas.

Members who joined the Rust Guards subsequent to their initial organization included:

- *Bell, Joseph H - transferred 11 Feb 1862 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- *Bell, William W - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- *Bull, John C - enlisted 12 Oct 1861 at Latonia, Arkansas.
- *Bull, Robert C - enlisted 25 Sep 1861 at Latonia, Arkansas.
- Dowling, William J - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- *Hadley, Thomas J - transferred 10 Oct 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- *Hannah, John A - enlisted 12 Dec 1861 at Latonia, Arkansas.
- *Hannah, William C - enlisted 25 Sep 1861 at Latonia, Arkansas.
- *Hughes, James W - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- McLeod, John - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- *Manning, Elind Sadoc - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- *Mock, George Y - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.
- Piles, William - enlisted 25 Sep 1861 at Latonia, Arkansas.
- *Wilson, Elias - transferred 20 Sep 1861 from Co K, 3d Ark Inf.

Of the 61 members of the Rust Guards who left Latonia in July 1861, only seven were left at the surrender at Appomattox in April 1865.

Submitted by Bryan R Howerton, 8 Cottonwood Drive, Searcy, AR 72143, who will be pleased to provide further information on these and other Ashley County soldiers of the Confederate Army with SASE. In return, would appreciate any further information you may have on these men (full names, dates of birth/death, marriages, etc.).

CIVIL WAR VETERANS CELEBRATION

September 1889

From: History of Ashley County by V. W. Etheridge, abstracted from Ashley County Eagle

The great day of 1889 was September 26th when 3,500 to 4,000 attended a barbeque and "dinner-on-the-ground-celebration" in honor of the veterans of the late war. It was held across the street from the Gus NORMAN residence which was located on North Main Street in Hamburg where George ETHERIDGE now lives, the property formerly being known as the Dr. J. W. SIMPSON place. Great preparation was made for the event. At a mass meeting at the courthouse the following committees were appointed to solicit funds:

White township: T. B. BAKER, Gus POOL and W. J. WATKINS; Longview: Frank HARVILLE, T. J. SHELTON and R. J. WITHERS; Mill Creek: R. F. TUCKER, J. T. MURPHY, Mark NOBLE and Thomas CARLOCK; Marie Saline: F. A. SWITZER, James STEPHENS, E. L. CROCKER and Clark RAMSAUER; Egypt: B. A. TUBBS, J. H. CALLOWAY and R. M. BARNETT; Extra: R. H. HILL, W. F. CHILES, G. W. BUNN and D. R. WHITE; Beech Creek: W. T. JOHNSON, W. M. NUTT and J. H. GEE; Grant: R. R. SAWYER, H. L. RISER and D. M. GRANT; De Bastrop: Jno. W. MORRIS, T. L. ATKINS, T. J. CARNAHAN and W. T. HARRIS; Portland: J. D. HOLLOWAY, John McBRIDE and F. L. SHEARER; Union: T. A. BALDY, W. J. FERGUSON, J. J. LOFLIN and William BAIN; Bayou: Green PUGH, Hiram GREGORY and Josh DINGLER; Bearhouse: Geo. W. FRANKLIN, John B. CONE, Wylie JACKSON and H. C. WILLCOXON; Carter: R. E. WALLACE, R. A. PUGH, J. D. PUGH, Till KELLY, J. M. BAKER, W. E. GUISE, J. J. BREAZEALE.

Committee on meat and cooking: S. P. NOBLE, F. M. GILES, Thomas GIBBS, Ab HOLLOWAY, J. W. MAYFIELD, Mark NOBLE, M. M. JAY and Jake McDUGALD.

Committee on speakers: M. L. HAWKINS, J. H. CALLOWAY, W. A. ROBY and T. J. WELLS.

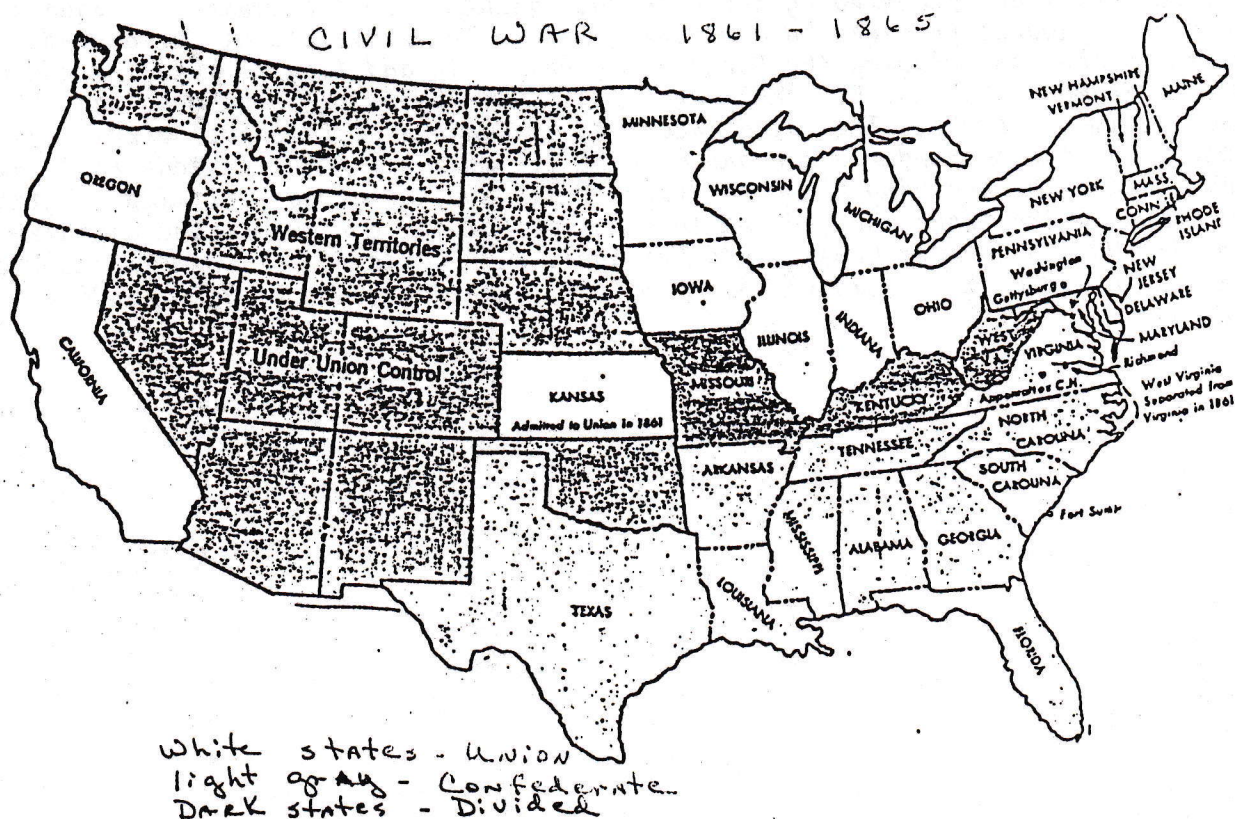

Everyone performed his duty well. On the great day everything was in proper order. The speaker's committee had selected Colonel SLEMONS of Monticello to make the principal address. Prior to the dinner, a parade with Col. Slemons, riding a fine bay horse and escorted by 300 veterans marched from the courthouse square to the picnic grounds preceded by a marching band. The exercises at the grounds opened by the band playing the Bonnie Blue Flag. In addition to the fine address by Col. Slemons, Col. D. E. BARKER and Rev. N. C. DENSON of Company K, 3rd Arkansas regiment, spoke. The latter received uproarious applause as he spoke of his presence at the surrender and heard General LEE make his farewell address to his army. After the speaking the band played Dixie and the crowd went wild. After the barbacue the three hundred old soldiers met at the courthouse and organized Camp Jim NORRIS, United Confederate Veterans, with Captain M. L. HAWKINS as President, R. A. PUGH, V. President, A. H. WILSON, Secretary, and R. Y. H. TERRY, Treasurer.

THE THIRD ARKANSAS REGIMENT

Unlike other Confederate regiments from Arkansas during the Civil War, the Third Arkansas was not formed in this state but in far-away Virginia. It was brought together for the first time during the early part of July, 1861, at Lynchburg, Virginia, and was made up of ten companies, formed from various counties of Southern Arkansas.

Company A	Ashley County
Company B	Ashley County
Company C	Mostly Drew County, some northern Ashley
Company D	Desha County
Company E	Mostly Union County, some western Ashley
Company F	Hot Springs County
Company G	Mostly Union County, some western Ashley
Company H	Desha County
Company I	Dallas County
Company K	Ashley County

The following index was made by Faith Nowlin from They'll Do To Tie Tie To!, by Calvin L Collier. This book is available at both the Ashley County Library, Hamburg, AR, and Paul Sullins Library, Crossett, AR. There are various spellings of the same names through out the book. It was a general practice at the time for new recruits to enlist in the company orginially raised in his home area. * Indicates soldier is on the Appomatox Parole List.

ROOT DIGGER'S TEN COMMANDMENTS

by Marilyn Hiatt Hudgens

- I Thou shalt not jump to conclusions but shalt strive for accurate evidence.
- II Thou shalt not deface library or archival materials in any way, shape or form.
- III Thou shalt not expound on one's own family research unless so invited; nevertheless, thou shalt share expertise and findings freely.
- IV Thou shalt be accurate with strange spellings and multiple facts, checking at least seven times seven for errors.
- V Thou shalt always send SASE when asking for information and shalt always answer all requests which include SASE.
- VI Thou shalt keep copies of all correspondence, be it going out or coming in.
- VII Thou shalt have a good filing system to preserve one's sanity and for quick retrieval.
- VIII Thou shalt not upset Great Aunt Susie with news of an out-of-wedlock child in 1835 in thy family or otherwise bore uninterested family members with all thou hast found.
- IX Thou shalt share personal genealogical books with trustworthy genie friends and shalt promptly return - unscarred - such books borrowed.
- X Thou shalt not become too discouraged when facts are few and far between and shalt accept the root digging virus as incurable and many times contagious.

Selah.
